Roberts Still in Doubt About Man to Fill O'Garra Guard Position for Cougars

The law of reciprocity seems to have left the situation between the two teams lying in a state of equality.

The Cougars are gradually perfecting their passing attack to a point of super-finesse, as compared to the long shooting attack of the Aggies.

Young has developed a phenomenal scumming strength which even the high-

BEYOND THE FACTS
 It often has been said that teaching should have as its object the training of character as well as the training of intellect. In an effort to accomplish the latter result some of our faculty members have lost sight of the first principle. Character is trained best where there is respect, admiration and a kindly feeling.

ing in the class soon toward the teacher. Often the best students lose complete interest in a subject and resort to doing merely enough to get through the course, leaving the man at the end of the quarter with a sigh and a "flat brown table." Surely this is not real teaching, even though the teacher is well equipped in frightening facts into the minds of his students.

The teacher who teaches is the one who helps a student to work, results in him a desire to do more work, and then leaves him with a smile, full of respect, admiration, and very much more than the "flat brown table."

AT LAST, THE DANCE QUESTION
 For a dozen years or so the paper has taken some sort of a stand on the dance question, and we hope that in this stand it will not be on the toes of too many dancers.

The idea of having a dance with a girl and then while still in the act of preparing to start the dance some rival comes and claps and takes her away, seems to be making too much of a good thing. It would be far better to keep the spot dances from getting tiresome and monotonous if we prohibit the spitting until after the first encore.

This would help to get everyone on the floor rather than half of the men to remain on the side or in the center of the floor waiting for the other fellow to get the girl on the floor and then—

MORE SERVICE
 A real bit of service in the newspaper field has been done by none other than Professor Harrison R. Merrill, in his stimulating the organization of the Utah High School Press Association.

In the various papers received in The Y News office from high schools of the state, there has been good space given to the merits of this organization. From the tone of the articles the schools are enthusiastically behind the move.

PROF. MARTIN ASKED TO JUDGE CONTEST
 Dr. Thomas L. Martin of the Y Agronomy department has been asked to judge a contest on the part of the State Committee of the American Chemical Society, which is conducting in the state of Utah for the fifth year a prize essay contest, the contest will close this year on the first of March.

The Committee membership will include the reading of ten or a dozen essays by high school students on the subject, "The Relation of Chemistry to Agriculture and Forestry," according to the rules, and Professor of Chemistry at the U. of U.

RARE BOOKS ARE ON LOCAL LIBRARY SHELVES

Several rare collections of books are to be found in the library on campus which might be of special interest to Leadership visitors.

An interesting collection in the group on Irish-Irish tales with numerous interpretations. These tablets date as far back as 1000 B. C., according to the librarians.

The entire collection of church works is interesting and valuable. Among these are to be found, old editions of "The Story," original editions of the "Book of Mormon" and "Doctrine and Covenants."

A collection of the works of Baruch Spinoza is also to be found. It is the most complete collection of any man's works in the library. The editions are some of these rare and unusual.

The library contains a vast assortment of works on all fields of learning in addition to numerous other collections after that the above named, and should be a mecca for a few hours of study.

GRAPPLERS BIO FAIR TO ANNEX STATE MEETS

Veteran Show Give Time Form New Old Style Competition For Places

Cougar chances in the coming state wrestling meet took a decided jump as a result of the dual meet with the U's. The outcome of the contest was a source of great attraction to Coach Welch, who has been spending much time and energy in getting the grapplers through their paces.

Walter Johnson, a wrestler to Cougar, wrestling ranks, fits into the 125 pound weight class. Johnson was left with by Billy Redskin's graduation to such a manner that many are backing this big fellow to romp off with state honors among the light heavies. It took Johnson just 1 minute and 35 seconds to down his Redskin opponent. Welch showed "Red", "science", and strength characteristic of a good grappler.

Thelgeson's showing in the 115 pound weight against Hobbs of Utah strengthens the Cougar's chances materially.

Larsen was his same old self, with speed and more of it. This little fellow, who is a contender to repeat his ravages of last year in the state competition. Larsen just 1 minute and 35 seconds to down his Redskin opponent.

Larsen showed light and determination in the lightweight class. Larsen is being backed for his shot by Ford and Munk who threw their

LOCAL TALENT BEING BOOSTED FOR OLYMPICS

The approaching Olympics have given rise to a scrutiny of athletic records throughout the nation in practically every athletic event. In the spectrum of those at home have been the names of the athletes of Paramount among these is that of Clark Larsen, well known local grappler in the 125 pound class.

Clark has never lost an intercollegiate match in the state of Utah and his only been thrown twice in his life, once at the national intercollegiate meet at Corvallis, Oregon, in which he lost to the ultimate winner, and again at the Inter-mountain Collegiate meet in Denver last spring.

In addition, he has won the Inter-mountain A. A. U. title for the last two years in succession.

A movement is at present afoot among prominent athletes of the state to secure sufficient recognition for him to secure a place for him on the Olympic team.

Utah opponents in short order in two five-minute exhibition bouts.

The 145 pound weight is still undivided. Harris lost a close match to his Redskin opponent in the way of the verge of victory twice during the exhibition.

Hayley, a Freshman, exhibited lack of experience against Dean of Utah. Larsen is pressing Hayley for the right to enter the State meet at Logan.

Don Herbert showed that he is fast and strong in the 145 pound class.

Conover, a Freshman, Redskin, heavy, failed to get any offensive against Dean, and finally subsided at the five-minute mark.

With nearly two weeks of intensive training left before the state meet the blue Cougars are going to make a determined bid for the championship.

Wildcats in Form For Next P. H. S. Game

The B. Y. U. high school basketball athletes are training diligently for their coming encounter with the Provo (High) Bulldogs. The Cats are sharp at their best against the Provo outfit.

In a recent game between the two, the Bulldogs were able to squeeze through with a victory over Provo. Many of the athletes that are in the "Y" high schoolers can settle down in their pace, they will win the Bulldogs.

ARTISTS WORKING NIGHTLY IN GYM

Freshmen Urged to Report Between Six and Seven Each Night; Credit Given

Recent weather developments have given rise to the passing of the night of inquiry toward the "Y" prospects for the track and field events this year.

When approached on the subject Coach Hart developed an unusually optimistic air. He said that in the spring attractions and in other athletic activities the Cougars were not to be found napping and that already 25 to 30 good men had started indoor work on the hurdles, weights, shot puts, and general conditioning exercises.

As soon as the weather moderates the boys will be on the road preparing for the extensive spring outdoor sports.

Indubitably the Third Annual Spring Cross Country race will be the first attractive feature. This comes in early April, and give every one a chance to win the official Black "Y" event. A club will be organized. The distance is two and a half miles. Coach Hart says this event will also be good for training men for the half to two mile "endurance" races.

The year has been full of constructive work, and the coming inter-City meet presents another opportunity to see which group is the "best" managed.

LOSS OF COOPER BLOW TO YOUNG UNIVERSITY

Certain dampening influences within the Cougar basketball hopes last week when it was learned that George Cooper, center, had been wrecked in a fall from a tree. The accident was a considerable blow to the Cougars, as Cooper was one of the best players in the state.

Cooper is a great deal to the B. Y. U. team inasmuch as at present there has not appeared a suitable alternate for him. Possessing weight coupled with exceptional speed and skill in recovering the ball from the boards, Cooper has impressed fans and coaches alike as being one of the greatest goal guards ever developed in local basketball circles. Coming as it did in mid-winter, the announcement of his disqualification left Coach Roberts with the problem of developing a successor for him in the short time of one week at the crucial period when the U. A. C. which begins tonight was only one week distant. The success which the coach has enjoyed in these work will be demonstrated in these two games.

Indubitably the Third Annual Spring Cross Country race will be the first attractive feature. This comes in early April, and give every one a chance to win the official Black "Y" event. A club will be organized. The distance is two and a half miles. Coach Hart says this event will also be good for training men for the half to two mile "endurance" races.
